RUSS DARED TO MAKE MOST OF GREEK AID BILL

Representative Says Nothing Can Be Done if Soviets Consider It War.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 9—The house rejected today a proposal to bar sending of American "combat troops" to Greece and Turkey as part of the administration's $400,000,000 program to curb Communism in southeastern Europe Defeat of the proposed ban was on a tellers' tally, 122 to 70.

A few seconds later, by voice vote, the house licked an attempt to limit the size of the military missions to be sent to the two countries to 100 men.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 9—Rep Merrow (R-NH) shouted on the house floor today that if Russia believes the administration's $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid measure "to be a declaration of war then let them make the most of it."

His assertion came as the fourth day of debate on the measure began with the house hoping to complete action on it by nightfall Republican Floor Leader Halleck of Indiana said an unusual Saturday session will be held unless a final vote is taken today

Merrow protested against what he termed "appeasement of Russia since wars end He called for passage of the bill without crippling amendments and agreed with Rep Rankin (D-Miss), that the proposed changes would "tie the hands" of President Truman in the effort to curb the spread of Communism

"What Do We Fear?"

A member of the foreign affairs committee Merrow cried out

"I wonder what we are afraid of The security of the United States is at stake There are no longer any frontiers Stalin and his associates are expanding.

"In Greece, they are ready to take over I wonder how long we are going to continue to be insulted before we take a firm stand?"

Rankin broke in to declare that Russia "has more than 200 spies in this country alone

"If this action said Merrow is going to persuade Russia to fight, there is nothing that we can do about it"

"War Not Inevitable"

Rep Hoffman (R-Mich), outspoken non-interventionist, hopped to his feet to declare that the sentiment of Merrow's remarks was that war with Russia is "inevitable"

"Why" Hoffman asked, doesn't he ask for a declaration of war now?"

Merrow denied that he believed war with Russia is inevitable, and added

"If Russia thinks this is a declaration of war let them make the most of it"

Supporters of the bill are confident that they have the votes to ward off continuing attacks upon the measure designed to bolster the two Mediterranean countries against communistic pressures.

CARDINGTON YOUTH DIES AFTER TRUCK-CAR CRASH

Frost Hits Fruit in County And Other Sections of Ohio

Frost paid a return visit to Marion and central and southern Ohio sections last night striking a severe blow at fruit trees and extending a white coat over many spots in the eastern and central sections of the country

Forecasters predicted frost for the north-central states again tonight but there were indications temperatures would start climbing near normal readings tomorrow.

Severe damage to Marion county's peach and early apple crops was reported today by fruit growers as they surveyed their losses from two consecutive nights of below freezing temperatures. The mercury here last night dropped to a low of 31 degrees, but the barometer was rising steadily today, indicating that fair weather was in store

Blossoms Blackened

Many of the early apple blossoms in the Marion area were black from frost bite this morning, especially those in unprotected areas The farm of Dale Lawrence on the Smeltzer road reported most of its peach crop was gone.

Cherries and plums also were reported damaged in unprotected areas, although those which stood on high ground and received the benefits of light winds escaped damage

Most of the strawberries in the Marion area are not believed to have suffered severe damage since the plants have not obtained sufficient growth to be vulnerable to frost, the county agricultural agent's office reported

According to The Associated Press, the northern area of the state, including Cleveland, Canton, Toledo and Youngstown, escaped damage Temperatures dropped to 26 in the vicinity of Columbus and Washington C. H

O S U. Orchards Hit

Most of the peaches in the Ohio State university orchards were reported killed and considerable damage was done to apples, especially those which had developed beyond the pink blossom state, reported Archibald Van Doren, professor of horticulture.

LABOR FIGHT IN FINAL STAGES

Ball Backs Anti-Jurisdictional Proposal; Taft Supports Milder Form.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 9 — Senator Ball (R-Minn) waged a last-ditch fight today to block jurisdictional strikes by private employer injunctions while Senator Taft (R-Ohio) threw his support behind a milder measure

The senate, in its eleventh day of debate on labor disputes legislation, agreed to start voting on the injunction issue at 1 p m

It called up for action first an amendment by Taft which simply would permit private employers to sue unions for damages resulting from jurisdictional strikes or secondary boycotts

Taft's proposal is a substitute for Ball's so the senate will vote on the latter's tougher amendment only if Taft's is defeated The Ohio senator predicted adoption

Taft, chairman of the GOP policy committee, favored until a few days ago the more stringent proposal to let private employers seek injunctions He abandoned this position when a poll of Republican senators showed considerable opposition to the amendment Ball is sponsoring

Taft's pending proposal is the last of four he set out to add to the big catch-all bill designed to curb strikes and restrict union practices The senate wrote in No 3 yesterday, voting 46 to 40 to outlaw union-controlled health and welfare funds

Taft won, 60 to 28, on an earlier decision to prohibit union coercion of workers, but he lost, 44 to 43, on a move to curb industry-wide collective bargaining

Jurisdictional strikes usually result from a fight between unions over which should do certain work A secondary boycott is a union effort to hit indirectly at an employer by forcing other employers to stop doing business with him

11 HORSES ENTERED IN PREAKNESS RACE

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE, May 9—A field of 11 horses among them Derby winner Jet Pilot and six of the gallopers who chased him home in the Kentucky classic last week, were entered today to run tomorrow in the 57th Preakness, second jewel of the triple crown.

The only expected entrant who was not named at the Pimlico secretary's office this morning was the generally regarded doubtful starter, Uncle Remus

The top five Derby finishers Jet Pilot Phalanx, Faultless, On Trust and Cosmic Bomb—all were named to run the mile-and-three-sixteenths for the black-eyed susans, along with Bullet Proof and Riskolater, who were seventh and eleventh last week.

Rounding out the field were the Canadian campaigner, Cornish Knight the Texas-owned giant, Contest the Louisville undertaker's horse, King Bay and Secnay, a New York-owned hopeful with a lot of front run in him

It was generally expected that Jet Pilot and Phalanx, who finished only heads apart in the Derby, would go to the post at 4 10 p m tomorrow very close to co-favorites in the betting at odds of about 2 to 1.

With 11 to go, the gross Preakness pot will be $138,140, about $1,500 short of the hoped-for world's record gross payroll for a horse race

Of this, the winner's end—if the winner is Cornish Knight, Bullet Proof or On Trust—will be $95,140, and for any of the other eight, $98,016 The difference is accounted for by the fact that the former three were named as supplemental eligibles at a cost of $3,000 each, after the regular nominations had closed

PROTEST HITS LAKE PROJECT

More than 60 property owners of Marion and Wyandot counties met at Ty Whitee Grange hall two miles southeast of Marseilles last night to protest possible condemnation of their farms and homes for the proposed Scioto-Sandusky conservancy project.

The meeting was sponsored by the Scioto Sandusky protest committee, a group of property owners formed April 24 to plan organized opposition to the proposed project

Purpose of last night's meeting, and of future meetings, according to Emerson McKelvy of Salt Rock township, committee secretary, is to collect data on land valuations in the area and map a campign against government acquisition of farms and homes.

Lewis Anderson of Grand township, president of the committee presided at last night's session and another meeting was scheduled for June 4, also in Tymochtee grange hall

40,000 Acres Involved

Members of the committee, Mr McKelvy explained are property owners in the Summit Lake project of the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy districts program He said the Summit Lake project, as proposed by the district, would take nearly 40,000 acres of land out of production by construction of a huge lake He said he understood the bundaries of the lake would angle from Wyandot to east of Morral, west of Big Island and south of Route 30 to the Hardin county line, extending north of Marseilles and east to Little Sandusky He estimated nearly 3 000 property owners would be involved

The committee secretary said the lake would be formed by construction of a series of dams, one across Tymochtee creek north of Marseilles, another across the Scioto river west of Hepburn and a third across the Sandusky river at Wyandot Canals constructed from behind these dams would feed into the lake.

Assessment Plan

According to Mr. McKelvy the 17 counties in the Scioto Sandusky Conservancy district would be assessed for half the cost of the project and the federal government would pay the other half

It is reported that surveying work is now being conducted on the Little Tymochtee creek in in Hardin county A special three-tenths of a mill assessment on real estate and public utilities in the 17 counties of the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy district was voted several weeks ago by the district's board of directors Funds raised from the assessment are to be used for a resurvey of the district and setting up an official plan for water conservation projects

Marion county's share of the assessment, to be drawn in the next December tax collection, will be nearly $19 000

Many Third Parties Called But Few Chosen in History of U. S.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, May 9—Henry Wallace and, once in a while, some others have talked vaguely of a third political party.

This party would be banned, if it came into being, by people dissatisfied with the Democratic and Republican parties.

But there is no sign of that happening soon. There's no movement in that direction. If it happens, putting the party together won't be easy.

A number of third parties in this country have arisen and faded.

3 Requirements Listed

To be successful, a third party would need:

1. Good leadership.

2. A program to attract voters from the Democrats and Republicans. There's no such program now.

3. An organization capable of competing with the Democrats and Republicans in getting out votes. This really would be tough.

An example of what a third party would be up against is made pretty clear in the May issue of the Atlantic magazine.

James Marlow

In that magazine is a very cold-blooded piece on practical politics by Edward J. Flynn, called "Bosses and Machines."

Flynn, friend of the late President Roosevelt, for 35 years has been the highly successful political boss of the Democrats in New York's Bronx.

Quotes Cold Facts

He does some plain speaking on practical politics. On the subject of third parties, he says:

1. Third parties have always failed nationally.

2. They've succeeded about once in 50 times in the states.

3. They've succeeded about once in 20 times in the cities.

Why?

Flynn gives a number of reasons, but this one in particular:

The old political parties, Democrats and Republicans, have been around a long time and—

They work at politics, the year 'round. They have their workers organized as teams, from the precincts and wards up.

A third party coming into the field would have to do the same thing: have organized workers in precincts, wards, cities, counties, states.

Can't Be Done Quickly

That can't be done overnight.

Last week the AFL and CIO talked of merging to present a solid front of their 15,000,000 union members. They talked, but backed away.

Yet those 15,000,000 workers, if merged, would present a pretty strong core for a third political party, if the AFL and CIO wanted one.

If those 15,000,000 workers backed a third party, and each could command one other vote, that would be a total of 30,000,000 votes.

If you don't think that would be a tremendous force in an election, just remember that only about 36,000,000 voters in this country cast a ballot in the 1946 congressional elections.

Meanwhile, any talk of a third party is just talk, and vague talk at that.

GAS FIRE AT CANTON

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., May 9—An estimated million cubic feet of gas were destroyed by fire yesterday in a blaze near Canton battled for five hours by fire departments from several area communities.

Cleveland May Slays Wife, Then Kills Self

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 9—A 36-year-old woman was shot and killed early today by her 40-year-old husband, who then took his own life with his revolver, Police Lt. Dennis Lynch reported.

Lt. Lynch said Mrs. Ruth Neville was found unconscious in the living room of her east side home shortly after she returned from her job at the General Electric Co. Mazda lamp division, and said she died a few minutes later in a hospital of a bullet wound in the chest.

Police also found the body of William Neville, the victim's husband, in the driveway of home with a bullet wound in the head and his revolver clutched in his hand, Lynch said.

Police said Mrs. Neville had filed a suit for divorce against her husband Wednesday, charging that he often became intoxicated.

YOUR HEALTH

Cancer Signs

We are making real progress in cancer control and can say today with great confidence that early cancer is curable.

But in order to cure cancer, it must be discovered early.

Although cancer has been studied by many scientists for many years and is the object of much of today's research, it is still true that the only successful way of treating it is to remove or destroy the cancerous tissue completely.

The best chance of doing this is while the cancer is still in one place before metastasis occurs. We say a cancer has metastasized when some of the cancer cells have been carried by blood or lymph to other parts of the body to set up new cancers in these locations.

This does not usually occur in the early stage of the disease and that is why we say early cancer is curable.

Take breast cancer for example. According to Dr. Eugene P. Pendergrass of Pennsylvania, the patient herself is the first line of defense against breast cancer. It is her job to watch for those signs of cancer which can be seen or felt, such as a lump in the breast, and to consult a doctor immediately if she notes any of them. Whether or not a woman has signs or evidence of cancer she should have an examination made by her doctor regularly every six months.

It is suggested by Dr. Pendergrass that any woman past 35 years of age should examine her breasts for cancer signs once a month. These signs include a lump in the breast, any deformity of the breast, such as attachment of the skin to the tissues underneath. This causes a slight depression of the skin. Other signs are retraction or pulling-in of the nipple, bleeding or a discolored discharge from the nipple and enlargement of the lymph glands in the armpit.

Because many of these signs may indicate some condition other than cancer, a woman should not be overcome with fear if one of them is discovered. In fact, no one should fear cancer but rather remember that if the condition is diagnosed early enough, it can be cured. However, lack of fear should not mean carelessness or keep patients from consulting the doctor at once if suspicious signs are present.

Only the physician can make an accurate diagnosis. If the condition is not cancerous the patient's mind will be put at rest. If it is cancerous, no time will be lost in securing proper treatment.

Pain as a rule is either a symptom of late cancer or of some other abnormal condition. If a woman has a lump in her breast, she should not wait until pain develops to have an examination made. By then it may be too late.

ALUMINUM COMPANY SIGNS PAY CONTRACT

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, May 9—A new two-year contract between the Aluminum Company of America and the CIO-United Steel Workers, signed last night, bring pay raises equivalent to 15 cents an hour and benefits to 250,000 workers at ALCOA plants in eight states.

A union spokesman said the ALCOA signing brings to more than 500,000 the number of Steel Workers covered by new contracts.

Statements issued by the union and the company show an over-the-board increase of 12 cents an hour by every ALCOA employe, plus an additional two cents hourly for employes in southern states "to narrow the rate differential between northern and southern plants."

An equivalent of two cents per hour goes to a non-contributory group life insurance plan, providing $1,000 death benefits for all regular workers, $15 weekly benefits for 13 weeks in case of illness or accident after a seven-day waiting period, and insurance covering hospitalization and surgical operations.

Union spokesmen said the Allegheny-Ludlum Steel Corp. is the only other large firm having comparable insurance and hospitalizations benefits. The U. S. Steel Corp., is studying a similar plan and will report to employes by Nov. 1.

Raises are retroactive to April 1. The contract may be opened for consideration of wages at the end of one year.

An electronic stopwatch can count at speeds as high as 1,000,000 objects or movements per second.

KILLER'S SECOND TRIP TO CHAIR SCHEDULED

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

ST. MARTINVILLE, La., May 9—The state of Louisiana succeeded today in its second attempt to electrocute Willie Francis. He was pronounced dead at 12:10 p. m.

• • •

ST. MARTINVILLE, La., May 9—Barring faintly possible court action or a second failure of the electric chair to function properly, Willie Francis, 18-year-old Negro, is to die here today for the slaying of Andrew Thomas, a white druggist.

It will be his second trip to Louisiana's portable electric chair. When Francis was strapped into the chair May 3, 1946, the chair failed to function and Willie walked away into one of the strangest legal battles in Louisiana history.

A young attorney, Bertrand Deblanc of Lafayette, La., interested himself in the case. Three times he took the case to Louisiana's supreme court. Three times he has pleaded before the United States supreme court. And three appeals have been made to the state pardon board.

All have been fruitless.

NEWARK WORKERS RAISED

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, O., May 9—President Harold Boeschenstein of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp., announced today a 12-cent hourly pay increase for 2,700 non-union employes in the firm's Newark plants and laboratories, retroactive to May 1.

ORDINANCE NO. 4901

ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR THE ISSUANCE OF NOTES IN ANTICIPATION OF THE LEVY OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS AND IN ANTICIPATION OF THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS IN ANTICIPATION OF THE COLLECTION OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF A SANITARY AND STORM WATER SEWER ON YORK STREET FROM FIES AVE. TO WATERLOO ST.

WHEREAS, the Council of the City of Marion has heretofore, by proper legislation, declared the necessity of improving York St. by the construction of a sanitary and storm water sewer, and

WHEREAS, this Council contemplates the use of $1116.00 for the purpose of paying the portion of the cost of said improvements which are to be paid by assessments.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of Marion:

SECTION 1. That it is hereby declared necessary to issue the bonds of the City of Marion in the principal sum of $1116.00 for the purpose of raising money, in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of York St. from Fies Ave. to Waterloo St.

SECTION 2. That said bonds shall be of the denomination of:

and shall be dated 1st day of July, 1947; shall bear interest at the rate of 2 per cent per annum, payable semi-monthly on the first days of January and July of each year until the principal sum is paid, and shall mature in ten semi-annual installments after their issuance.

SECTION 3. That for the purpose of raising money in anticipation of the levy of special assessments and in anticipation of the issuance of bonds in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of York St. from Fies Ave. to Waterloo St. by the construction of sanitary and storm water sewer, in accordance with the legislation heretofore passed by the City of Marion's Council with respect thereto, to pay the property owners' share of the cost and expense of said respective improvements, it is hereby declared necessary to issue and there shall be issued notes of said City in the amount of $1116.00, which shall be placed to the credit of the Special Improvement Fund.

The appropriation hereinabove made for said sewer improvement is subject to the qualification that interest at the rate of 2 per cent per annum for the period prior to the collection of the first installment so to be levied shall be included in said amount, and the amount necessary to pay said interest is hereby appropriated for the payment thereof and for no other purpose.

SECTION 4. That such anticipatory note in the amount aforesaid shall be issued bearing interest at the rate of 2 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually. Such notes shall be dated the 1st day of May, 1947 and shall mature on the 30th day of April, 1948. Such notes shall be executed and delivered in such number and such denominations as may be requested by the purchaser of such notes.

SECTION 5. Such notes shall be executed by the Mayor and City Auditor and bear the seal of the corporation. They shall be payable at the office of the City Treasurer, Marion, Ohio; that shall express upon their face the purpose for which they are issued and that they are issued pursuant to this Ordinance.

SECTION 6. All assessments collected for the improvements aforesaid and unexpended balances remaining in the funds after the costs and expenses of said improvements have been paid, shall be applied to the payment of said notes and the interest thereon until both are fully provided for.

SECTION 7. Said notes shall be first offered to the Sinking Fund Trustees of the City and so many of the same as shall not be taken by said trustees shall be sold at private sale by the City Auditor, but for not less than par and accrued interest, and the proceeds from such sale, except any premium and accrued interest thereon and the amount thereof necessary for the payment of interest prior to the maturity of said notes, shall be paid into the proper fund and used for the purpose aforesaid and for no other purpose. Any premium and accrued interest and the amount necessary for the payment of interest prior to their maturity shall be transferred to the Sinking Fund to be applied in the payment of principal and interest of said notes in the manner provided by law.

SECTION 8. Said notes shall be the full general obligations of the City and the full faith, credit and revenue of said City are hereby pledged for the prompt payment of the same. The par value to be received from the sale of the bonds anticipated by said notes shall, to the extent necessary, be used only for the retirement of said notes at maturity, together with interest thereon, and is hereby pledged for such purpose.

SECTION 9. In the event that such assessments are not levied or bonds are not issued to provide a fund for the payment of said notes at maturity, a general tax shall be levied against all of the property in said City for the payment of such notes and the interest thereon.

SECTION 10. The City Auditor is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this Ordinance to the County Auditor.

SCATTERED STOCKS MAKE SMALL GAINS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 9—Timid buying enabled scattered stocks to edge forward today but many market leaders were neglected in losing territory.

Quotations generally slipped after a quiet opening.

A little professional bidding was credited to dividends, earnings and the idea that selected issues may have been oversold.

Attracting support were Standard Oil (NJ), Texas Co., Lion Oil (following a splitup proposal), Schenley, Santa Fe, American Telephone, Columbia Gas, Kennecott, DuPont, Allie Chemical, J. C. Penney and U. S. Rubber.

New 1947 lows were recorded for Pennsylvania Railroad, N. Y. Central, Glenn Martin and Rexall Drug. On the offside most of the time were General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Douglas Aircraft, Western Union "A," Consolidated Edison, Anaconda, General Electric, Union Carbide, Philip Morris, Owens-Illinois, Lehman Corp., Norfolk and Western, Chesapeake and Ohio and Great Northern Railway.

ST. LAWRENCE CANAL PROJECT INTRODUCED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 9—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) introduced today for himself and 14 other senators bi-partisan legislation authorizing construction of the controversial St. Lawrence seaway and power development.

The measure, providing for imposition of tolls to make the multimillion dollar project self-liquidating, was also introduced in the house by Chairman Dondero (R-Mich) of the public works committee.

Ten other Republicans and four Democrats joined with Vandenberg in placing the measure before the senate.

The legislation, virtually identical to that introduced in previous congresses with the exception of the tolls feature, would authorize construction of a 27-foot channel from the head of the Great Lakes to the mouth of the St. Lawrence to permit access by ocean-going shipping.

100 GUESTS ESCAPE OHIO HOTEL FLAMES

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, May 9—While flames roared up the six-floor elevator shaft of the Columbia hotel for men in downtown Cincinnati last night, about 100 guests made an orderly escape to safety down smoke-filled stairways or by fire escapes.

No one was injured in the blaze which destroyed the roof of the 220-room hotel building.

Desk Clerk Herbert Dawson rushed from a second-floor room to find the stairway jammed with men "fighting their way down" and yelled to them: "keep your heads!" the men "quieted down and descended in orderly fashion," Dawson said.

Arab Effort To Oust Britain To Be Renewed

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 9—The Arab higher committee of Palestine was reported ready today to renew the Arab fight in the United Nations for speedy termination of Britain's 25-year-old League of Nations mandate over the Holy Land.

Informed quarters said this would be the substance of the statement which the Arab committee delegation planned to make before the general assembly's 55-nation political committee at this afternoon's session.

Senate May Seek Court Order To Open Roosevelt Oil Files.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 9 — Senate war investigators on the trail of an Arabian oil deal debated today whether to open up Franklin D. Roosevelt's files with a subpoena to rely on President Truman to obtain the information they want.

The late president's executors made it plain they will not voluntarily permit an unrestricted search of his papers.

Chairman Brewster (R-Me) told newsmen he will discuss with Burton K. Wheeler, the committee's special counsel, whether to be satisfied with documents which Mr. Truman has told the executors to provide.

As an alternative, Brewster said, the committee could issue a subpoena requiring the Roosevelt estate to give investigators full access to the files. They are packed in 165 cases weighing 40 to 50 tons.

Basil O'Connor, Roosevelt's former law partner and one of the executors, told the committee at a closed session yesterday "if we are subpoenaed we have to act in accordance with whatever the subpoena requires us to do."

But he added:

"We would not voluntarily permit the examination of the papers by any one even on the request of the President."

Earle Koons, attorney for the executors, assured the committee that Mr. Truman has asked for "all letters and documents pertinent to the subject of the inquiry." He said these "are now being gathered together and will be sent intact to the White House."

Solon J. Buck, national archivist disclosed that Mr. Roosevelt made arrangements two years before his death in April, 1945, to have his papers screened.

The idea, Buck said, was to determine "which ones should be withheld from general consultation," mainly "from the standpoint of their possible repercussions on individuals and their reputations."

The papers are in the hands of the executors until they can be turned over to the Roosevelt Memorial library at Hyde Park.

Heavy, Heavy Hangs . . .

WASHINGTON wiseacres are warning simple-minded folk not to get unduly excited about congress slapping federal restrictions on labor unions.

President Truman, the wiseacres say, won't let anything happen to the union vote he needs to make a race of it in 1948. His veto can be counted on. It's doubtful if the senate could override it. In short, it's foolish to count on reform of federal labor laws. The majorities favoring labor-law reform in the house and senate are marching up the hill so they can march back down again. The power of one man's veto dictated by political expediency—chiefly, the big-city organized labor vote—is greater than that of the United States congress. This is what the wiseacres are saying. President Truman, they predict, will put politics ahead of principle in the showdown. He will go into the tank for the union bosses. He will be a puppet jerked by the backstage manipulators of the labor movement, just as he was jerked into and out of hot water by these manipulators early in his administration, before he let his administration trim John L. Lewis down to size. If the wiseacres are heeded, only the gullible will believe that the practical politicians hopeful of getting Mr. Truman elected a year from next November ever would pass up a chance to hang on to what is left of Franklin D. Roosevelt's almost-solid organized labor vote. Just the threat of a presidential veto, say the wiseacres, is taking the heart out of the congressmen trying to block the further growth of union monopolies.

Mr. Truman knows what the wiseacres are saying. He is giving it credence by his silence. Is it so, Mr. President? Is John Lewis really bigger than the United States when politicians get their heads together?

No Cause for Umbrage

THE National Association of Radio News Directors is miffed. It believes radio was discriminated against the other day when Henry Wallace, while being interviewed by the press, unceremoniously deposited a radio recording microphone on the floor and sat with his foot on it.

The radio men shouldn't feel slighted in this case. Wallace knows the power of radio. He also knows that if, during the give-and-take of a press interview, he made a statement which wouldn't stand up under scrutiny, he would be unable to claim he was misquoted. The recording of the interview would be there to confute him.

The Question Mark

AS EXPECTED, France's Socialist party approves Premier Ramadier's repudiation of his Communist cabinet members, and the government now is free to shape its policies without consulting the Communists. At the same time, the Communists are free to attack the government and use their formidable strike weapon.

France is facing a crucial trial in its campaign to bring down prices while holding the line on wages. The Communists' insistence on campaigning for higher wages was what precipitated the crisis. They have not seen fit to heed Ramadier's call to all Frenchmen to "encase themselves in the iron corset of discipline" to save the national economy.

The question is how far the Communists will go now that they have no responsibility for the government. Outside the government they can sabotage it more effectively, and they know that a general strike would cause the fall of any governmnet. But they also know that a crisis would precipitate a scramble for power in which the Right would be a formidable factor.

The French Communists are the question mark, the unknown quantity, in western Europe. They have promised not to abuse their strength and have declared they will "always place the national interest before everything else." The sincerity of those commitments will now be tested.

A Matter of Usage

THERE seems to be some confusion as to how to address Harold E. Stassen, who has been in the news quite frequently of late and evidently intends to stay there. He has been addressed as captain, governor, commodore and mister. During a press conference the other day a questioner became confused and addressed him as general.

There's no hard and fast rule in such matters. When in doubt, "mister" always is acceptable. In Mr. Stassen's case, "candidate" also would be permissible.

Did You Know?

"Wildcat" as a description of a highly speculative and unsound venture originated before the Civil War when a Michigan bank failed and its notes which were decorated with a picture of a panther became worthless.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Republicans Look for Causes of Unfavorable Press.

WASHINGTON, May 9 — The Republicans have been getting a bad press and no one seems to know why.

The delay in congressional enactment of their program bestirred criticism, yet there has been no substantial criticism of their program. Their union reform bill went through the house overwhelmingly (3 to 1) and the opposition mustered only 17 votes Tuesday (1 to 6) to delay the senate bill. Their tax reduction and economy programs are popular and are nearing final passage. Yet it is their adversary Mr. Truman, whose associates threaten a veto of the three measures, now currently reported to be increasingly popular in the polls.

Several Republican senators, talking over this political phenomena, at a senate restaurant lunch the other day, reached some surprising conclusions.

The Washington newspaper reporters, one said, are all members of a union, the American Newspaper Guild, and can hardly avoid slanting their news to the union side and against the Republicans. No diabolical plotting was seen in this. The reporters are human. When a senator attacks or proposes to curtail one of the privileges of their organization, naturally they might think this is much bigger news than a speech by a senator advocating union reform. This is where their hearts lie. Thus while congress is two-thirds or more on the other side, the contest looks like a 50-50 proposition in the press and on the radio, with the union opposition getting a little the better of the play.

Another Reason

Another reason was advanced. The Republicans have been trying to lay groundwork for return of the country to a peacetime basis, whereas the nation has been for many years past (15 perhaps) on a jazz-pace. To be sure, Mr. Hoover (R) kept something going every minute and sometimes more sensational, the next minute. But it was war or politics, groups and labor and finally war on the battlefront. Against such a constant ferment on a many-up background the Republicans look slower than they are, and the impatient press has been needling them, they agreed.

A third reason was suggested. Some senators brought forth clippings from their hometown papers indicating the political action pressure groups were engaged in a planned, bitter undercover campaign to add to press confusion and actively promote popularity for Mr. Truman and berate the Republicans. The work of person-by-letter smear artists was noticeable for the first time since election particularly in the usual newspaper columns containing "Letters to the Editor." Excessive attacks with unmistakable accusation against any Republican (Taft especially) or any Republican action, frequently appeared and indicated many editors must be aware of the nature of the contest going on here.

The senators concluded they, as Republicans, were faced with a new political action venture which did not appear on the surface in public speeches or statements, and they wondered what to do about it. They remembered that the CIO Political Action groups did not go out of business, are still spending sums in the millions for "education of the public," but are being quieter about their work. They were inclined to lay their troubles, particularly their difficulty of an unsatisfactory press, to this source rather than to Mr. Truman or the Democratic opposition strategy, although naturally the Democrats would do whatever they could to help such a cause of anti-Republicanism along.

Fourth Reason

A fourth reason they detected within their own organization. Unquestionably pressures are afoot to get the old isolationist versus interventionist fight going among the Republicans, although both sides of that question actually are obsolete. Actually no issue of isolation or intervention is pending. We are in Europe up to our necks or higher. Our chosen frontier is not the Maginot line, as Mr. Roosevelt once said, but now Greece and Turkey which are much further east. The frontier was chosen nearly unanimously and bi-partisanly. Yet visible efforts are being made to goad a Vandenberg-Dewey-Stassen interventionist wing vaguely against a Taft-Wherry-Halleck wing on an issue which is not alive. Furthermore a wedge is being driven between the same groups on the assumption that the Vandenberg-Dewey-Stassen group is somehow less completely for union reform than the other group.

The Republican senators did not know the solution for their difficulties, but considered their luncheon highly successful for discovering what the actual current publicity difficulties are, at the foundation level.

The Sawdust Trail

On the Barroom

A number of London clergymen have been making the rounds of pubs and gin-mills.

They call themselves "The Christian Commandos" and they have, in truth, caused more consternation than anything since the blitz.

Their tactics, one supposes, are based on the theory that any recipe for conversion of necessity begins, "First, catch your sinner . . . ."

And, indeed, there is no surer formula for successful fishing than to go where the fish are.

Still, this is the first time, so far as I can determine, that religion has been sold on a bar-to-bar basis.

But then this is undeniably an age when people seem to thirst more after spirits than spirituals.

And so, taking religion into the highways and bistros may prove an excellent idea, provided the domestic missionaries stick to lemonade.

It's sad but true that the road to salvation is not a one-way street.

Politeness in Theaters

By HARRY A. McCREA

PAUL MALLON believes England's Mass Observation Poll is out of line when it finds Americans are impolite, but has he been to a theater lately? Fortunate is he who can get to the theater during the slack hours and have a seat on the shelf out of the range of conversationalists, candy crunchers, gum snappers, restless kids, and ordinary boors.

Let us consider some of the fauna that roam darkened theaters.

Comparatively rare in modern audiences are ladies who express real or feigned shock by tsk-tsk-tsk-ing. The reason for this is that people aren't easily shocked nowadays. Also rare are the Minnie Marplots, who give running accounts of what's to come. They have been replaced, however, by the Little Sir Echoes, who repeat for their companions any particularly juicy mots, whether the companions heard them or not.

Let us pass over that ardent band of Abelards and Heloises who use darkened theaters to get in a bit of necking. This silent groping and grappling is not particularly distracting, although the good taste of those who indulge in it is open to question.

Also in evaluating the behavior of theater audiences, let us not blame children who crack their bubble gum and race up and down the aisles. These are matters of fetching-up for which their parents are responsible, plus the fact that many of these children seem to be alone at pictures intended primarily for adults.

The worst detractors from theater decorum are young men who come to the theater in groups of four, five or six, laughing and talking and scuffling their feet. It's just like football night in a college town.

They laugh uproariously during the picture, which is not open to the criticism if that is the way they must give vent to their pleasure. But they also give forth loud snorts for no particular reason; low like a bison in pain when a particularly toothsome dish appears on the screen; synchronize wet smacks with any osculation that takes place, and carry on running conversations in loud undertones. When an usher or anyone sitting near tries to hush them, they become huffy. Often they issue challenges to "step out in the alley." Someday I hope the challenge of one of these young bravos is accepted and he gets his ears beat off. Whoever does the job will deserve the theater ribbon with ticket stub cluster.

Even Posts Steal, Say Budapest Police

By The Associated Press

BUDAPEST, Hungary — For some weeks "strippers"—something like American "muggers"—have been robbing Hungarian men and women not only of their money but all their clothing down to and including underwear and socks. A few days ago all Budapest papers reported that shortly after midnight a completely nude drunk floundered into a Buda police station, screaming that he had been robbed by strippers not more than a block from the police station. Police found a broken post partially blocking a narrow alley. At the foot of the post lay the drunk's clothes and money where, police surmised, they had been willingly deposited by a drunk who thought the unyielding post was a robber.

Peanuts and the Empire

By STEWART ALSOP

LONDON, May 9.—It is at first surprising to find large numbers of stolid British Labor party officials talking excitedly about "groundnuts." Even after it develops that what they really have in mind is peanuts, it is difficult at first to understand why so much enthusiasm centers on the lowly goober. Yet this widespread fascination with peanuts is one symptom of a momentous change in British policy which has been taking place almost unnoticed. For slowly, ponderously, the whole weight of British imperial policy has been shifting, and there are signs that, a step or two behind, British strategic policy will shift with it.

What has happened is that Africa has been slowly replacing India and the Far East as the focal point of the British Empire. Moreover, an attempt is being made to export the limited British version of socialism to the British possessions in Africa. Any good doctrinaire socialist knows that socialism and imperialism are mutually contradictory terms. Yet British history is a history of somehow making inherent contradictions work. From the tentative beginnings now under way, of which the "groundnut scheme" for East Africa is the most ambitious, something new under the sun—a socialist empire—may yet emerge.

Plans for Peanuts.

The groundnut scheme will be an attempt to apply the principle of the TVA (an experiment which has had a profound effect on British socialist thought, to East Africa, with peanuts substituted for electric power. An initial outlay of about 25 million pounds will be used to establish a corporation for the production of peanuts on a grand scale. Any profits will be plowed back into further developments. Thus it is hoped first, to raise the miserable standard of living of the East African natives. It is hoped second, and by no means incidentally, to correct the most serious deficit in the present English diet—the shortage of fats and oils—to which some dieticians attribute the low rate of production in British industry. In this way it is planned to eat the socialist cake and keep the benefits of empire too.

The groundnut scheme is only the most expensive of a number of similar schemes, all centering on Africa. Mineral deposits are to be nationalized, on the pattern of the British nationalization of coal. In the Cameroons, a TVA-like project for the cultivation of former German lands has already been started. Nigeria's electric power is to be nationalized. In West Africa, a plan is being formulated for government control and marketing of cocoa.

The economic importance of East Africa especially has been vastly increased by the discovery of important zinc and lead deposits, and in Uganda, of the richest diamond mines in the world. (So rich are these mines, indeed, that production must be very carefully controlled. Otherwise, "diamonds would sell for two a penny.") Plans are on foot for the building of new railways in this area, and the opening of important new port facilities.

A Considerable Change.

This shift of emphasis, this new imperial focus has of course its strategic and military implications. For generations the young men at Sandhurst have had it drummed into their skulls that British strategy in the Mediterranean and the Middle East is designed to guard the "lifeline of empire." The lifeline led, of course, through Gibraltar and Suez to India and the Far East. Now two new factors are tending to undermine this first commandment in British strategic thinking. First, the lifeline was closed during most of the recent war, and the development of the long-range plane and the new weapons have made it exceedingly unlikely that it would be held open in case of another. Second, there will soon be little or no empire in the Far East for the lifeline to lead to.

These new factors have led to a disagreement (in less dignified circles it would be called a row) now in progress among the makers of British strategic policy. The sides are almost exactly divided according to age. The older admirals and generals still think primarily in terms of British communications with the Far East. Hence they emphasize the need for strong positions—in Palestine, Cyprus, Egypt, and elsewhere—for the protection of the Suez Canal.

The younger men believe that the canal would be closed on the first day of hostilities, and that the strategic objective must therefore be, not to keep it open, but to prevent its use by a potential enemy. They thus lay the main strategic emphasis on two points. East Africa, to be developed both as the paying proposition in the new Empire, and as a main strategic base; and Middle East oil, which the main African base would be designed to protect. For this purpose, it is believed that control of the Arabian peninsula in case of war, and total control of the Persian gulf and the Indian Ocean, will be necessary. There is also some belief that a main forward base at Basra in Iraq is essential.

Wanta Buy a Book?

By The Associated Press

LONDON—William H. Robinson, dealer in rare books of London's famous Pall Mall, has added a new item to his "stock"—at a cost of $27,200. This price was paid at Sotheby's auction room for a copy of the Apocalypse, printed in Germany in 1460, and containing color block illustrations of the life of St. John.

Consisting of 48 leaves arranged in three quires of eight sheets each, the text was engraved on scrolls carefully colored in the style of the period.

An official of Sotheby's said that so far as he knew this was the highest price ever paid for a block book.

Robinsons told the Associated Press they had got the book "cheaply." "There is no comparable piece," they said.

To Both Sides in the Telephone Strike Wherever Settled,

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

Well, you will never know what it meant to me to have the strike over and my wife again with me running downstairs to the receiver and to get voices asking for the Pig & Whistle Grill?" "Hey, Schwartz, are you gonna fix that roof?" "This is Pooker; you haven't sent up my cutlets and things like that.

• • •

Maybe it didn't seem that the country felt the strike so much, but believe me it did. Are a hook jiggling, wrong number and extra gassy station country and when anything goes wrong with the phone service it is near ruins us. Seven out of ten men are "a caller-upper," "get-him-on-the-wire guy," "nothing - can - be - done - about - this - talk-to-somebody-on-the-phone" type. For the past month not being a dial community, I have been doing is jiggling the hook with a chance to yell "Try 'em again; they may be in." It was a very unnerving month.

• • •

The thought of millions of telephones being away from switchboards and getting squawks from me was awful. It was impossible to get the complaint operator, and even the chief did not have to listen to me.

• • •

What would life be with nobody saying "Excuse it, please"? What would it be like with people calling up and asking "Is this Finnegan's grill?" or "Is Nellie there?" What would it mean to most Americans if they had to go for days and maybe weeks without central saying, "That's the number you called for," and the subscriber snapping "Don't tell me what number I called! Get me the right number, even though both of us have now forgotten what it was.

• • •

This country cannot exist half smoke signal and half post-card.

• • •

Every man is entitled to life, liberty, a good book and the pursuit of right numbers. It is not to reason why, ours but to do and dial, as the old saying is.

• • •

The telephone has come to stay. It is so many years since any American did any business without holding one little black gadget to his ear and talking into another that he does not know how to function without such a routine.

• • •

We are a nation of phone talkers. "Gabby" is our middle name. Millions of us sing the first line of the national anthem, "Oh, Say, Can You HEAR." "When in doubt, call somebody up about it" is our national slogan.

• • •

Well, anyhow, you lifted a great worry from me. I started right in hook jiggling again and central started right in ignoring me, and neither of us lost any time at it, thanks to you. Wherefore, only a few minutes ago the phone rang and I ran downstairs to answer it and a voice said "Are you Spiegel, the house painter?" which proves everything is normal again.

ELMER

EX-MAYOR LA GUARDIA of New York announces that all the doctors have to be the matter with him is "Mediterranaemia." It is regarded as no more serious than his two other ailments, East and Hudson Rivers, nerves and Flushing Bay insomnia.

It is just possible that Harry Truman has a bowling alley put in to show he has something on the ball.

• • •

Speaking of the presidential bowling alley, I hear that the President has a recurrent dream that is quite wonderful. He dreams that he rolls a ball down the alley at terrific speed and Henry Wallace has his thumb caught in it.

President Aleman of Mexico returns to Mexico from his American trip in as friendly a mood as could be expected of any visitor who, despite many banquets, had to pay for one or two orders of meat in this country.

Mother's Day is near again and we know a son who hopes to finance things so he can present mom with a geranium on which all our payments have been completed.

No Resistance

By TRUMAN TWILL

This will reply, we hope, to the accusation that we consumers are beginning to resist our fellow Americans who have stuff to sell.

That happens to be our privilege, but it's a dirty lie. There's no resistance. We consumers are friendly as pups to the idea of buying everything from A to Izzard, including the moon.

Fellow Americans with stuff to sell will please be notified that we want a new automobile, a new house, a long vacation in the Rockies, a new refrigerator, washing machine, vacuum cleaner, new furniture, new rugs, new everything.

They will be notified that our main problem in this postwar world that isn't what it is cracked up to be is drooling over advertisements for the gorgeous gadgetry manufactured in the land of the free and the home of hopeful.

It is put into the record herewith that we gawk at all this stuff in store windows and occasionally amble inside to inspect it up close, perhaps even to let a clerk waste time selling us for a live prospect, which is what we were.

Hours of our conversation are concerned with what we'd do if we had the chance to hit the high spots in the national standard of living, such as if we'd made a killing in the war boom or had studied to be quicker with a dollar than a lot of other fellows.

There's no resistance, believe us. You could boil down a carload of us consumers and not get an erg of resistance. Give us a fighting chance to pay for the blasted thing and we'd buy an ocean-going yacht, just to give you an idea where we stand.

We are crazy for the more abundant life—oats, for catnip. All that's bothering us is the difference between what we can earn with our fumbling efforts and what people who make stuff for us to buy are charging for their brains and labor, which have become very precious.

They must have miscalculated how much we have left over from the housekeeping and we're keeping to do business with them in the new new world where there would be pie in the sky at two bits a slice. Don't accuse us of resisting anything. We'd love to go along quietly if two bits a slice seems a bit stiff.

It isn't resistance, just the old American custom of paying the freight. To keep the record straight, suppose Americans with stuff to sell quit yelping about consumer resistance and start admitting that we consumers are signing and turning away because the turnips are running out of blood.

61-Year-Old Calls Marriage To Eighth Grader 'God's Will'

By The Associated Press

WORCHESTER, Texas, May 9—A 61-year-old farmer-preacher said today that his marriage to a 14-year-old school girl was "God's will" and "I love to do God's will regardless of men."

R. S. Holt, who is held in jail here under $6,000 bond on charges of abduction and violating the age of consent brought by the girl's father, told reporters in the presence of Sheriff Jim Smith that his bride had turned against him.

"She has thwarted God's will," he cried, "and one of these days she's going to be sorry.

"Time and time again that woman swore she would die by my side. Her Mammy and Daddy just over-persuaded her."

The girl, Alline Roleman, returned to her parents after Holt was arrested. He was bound over to the grand jury, which next meets in August, at a preliminary hearing yesterday.

Alline testified at the hearing that she and Holt first had sexual relations last October—when she was 13—in a graveyard across the gravel road from school shortly after her eighth grade class was dismissed.

She said she married the bulky part time Baptist preacher because "He told me I was his divine wife."

CLEVELAND EXPANDS SEX EDUCATION IN SCHOOLS

Courses Set Up in 10 Junior, Senior Highs.

CLEVELAND, May 9—Reflecting a national trend, sex instruction has been expanded in Cleveland to include courses in 10 junior and senior high schools, Edwin L. Gregerson, schools supervisor of health education, reported today.

Explaining that sex education here still is in the experimental stage and is being evolved to meet definite needs, Gregerson asserted:

"Sex education is being enlarged here, as it is elsewhere in the country, but we are in the process of determining, if special work is needed, or if it should be fitted into the existing curriculum. That question has not been settled."

The educator said factors determining the introduction of additional sex instruction would depend upon public reaction, problems of obtaining qualified teachers and readiness of students to participate in such courses.

The health supervisor said phases of sex instruction taught in Cleveland schools ranged from studies of reproduction in biology and organs of the body in science courses, to special classes taught to segregated groups by specially designated teachers.

PILES ARE NEVER "MILD"
DANGER IN NEGLECT
No one should ever think of (hemorrhoids) as a mild disorder.
Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely, if neglected to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.
Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling and general nervous irritability.
Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free.

JURY AWARDS VERDICT IN FARM DAMAGE SUIT

$325 Granted Plaintiff After Trial Here.

A verdict of $325.70 in favor of the plaintiff was returned by a common pleas court jury late yesterday in the judgment suit of Lowell Lyon against Charles Weir, both of Claridon township.

Lyon claimed Weir's livestock escaped from their pasture, crossed into his adjoining field and damaged his bean crop. He had asked for a judgment of $1,002.66.

The verdict, signed by 11 members of the jury, was reached about 5:15 p. m. after approximately one and one-half hour's deliberation. Moore and Myers were attorneys for the plaintiff and Wilhelm and Robinson attorneys for the defendant. Common Pleas Judge Paul D. Smith presided.

Republicans Block Conscription Proposal

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 9—Republican leaders threw up a road block today against action this year on President Truman's plea for universal training legislation.

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the G.O.P. policy committee, told a reporter he doubts very much that congress would be able to take up such a controversial subject and still meet the July 31 adjournment deadline on which he has been insisting.

"There are many other matters of more pressing importance that will take up our full time," the Ohio senator said.

An estimate by Senator Lucas (D-Ill) that the kind of universal military training program the army wants would cost $1,486,000,000 annually gave economy-minded Republicans another reason for putting off action at this time.

Listing of Children For Clinics Is Urged

Parents of children who will be eligible to enter school next September but who as yet have not been registered in the pre-school clinic, are asked to get the name and other information regarding the children to the principal of the school in their district at the earliest possible time, Supt. E. E. Holt announced today. In addition to registering these children, any child who reached the age of five years before May 1 this year, also is to be registered at this time, Supt. Holt states, even though the child will not be eligible to enter school next fall. To be eligible to enroll for school in September a child must be six years of age before Jan. 1, 1948, the law specifies.

Clinics for children who will enter school next fall will be held in the city and parochial schools the week of May 12. The annual clinic, sponsored by professional, city and county health departments and the P-T-A, offers an opportunity for complete physical checkup for the pre-school children.

821 Hardy Fans See Two Ohio State Loop Games

By The Associated Press

Four Ohio State league ball clubs defied continuing unseasonably cold weather last night and drew but 821 fans for their pains.

Dayton—more from desperation than anything else—finally opened at home after five postponements. The Indians defeated Muncie, Ind., 8 to 5, before 677 fans.

Richmond's Roses and Springfield's Giants battling it out in front of 154 persons in 35-degrees saw Springfield's Tony West pitch a three-hitter studded with 13 strikeouts. The Giants won, 10 to 2, to gain an even break in eight games this season and move back into the league's first division.

Cold weather cancelled doubleheaders between Marion and Newark and Lima and Zanesville.

Jackie Robinson Strike Plan Denied by Cardinals

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 9—National Baseball League President Ford Frick said last night he was told by owner Sam Breadon of the St Louis Cardinals the team had planned, but was talked out of, a strike against Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson, Negro first baseman. This brought quick denials both from Breadon and Manager Eddie Dyer of the Cardinals.

Frick, in a telephone conversation with The Associated Press said that Breadon came to New York last week and informed him that he understood there was a movement among the Cardinals to strike in protest during their just concluded series with the Dodgers if Robinson was in the lineup.

"I didn't have to talk to the players myself. Mr. Breadon did the talking to them. From what he told me afterward the trouble was smoothed over I don't know what he said to them, who the ringleader, if any, was, or any other details," Frick said.

Breadon, in St. Louis, said "I went to New York last week to see what could be done to hlep the ball club, and a St. Louis reporter with the club told me he understood there was some dissatisfaction among National league players—not the Cardinals, mind you—about playing against Robinson.

"I decided to talk the thing over with some of the men because it would be such a terrible thing, and I brought the matter up with two of my leading players. I was happy to find there was no dissatisfaction among the players. They never intimated that such a thing was even thought of."

Dyer called the threat of a strike against Robinson "absurd."

"The report my club threatened a strike against Robinson is absurd. At no time to my knowledge did my players consider such a foolish action. They never discussed it. No one ever discussed it with them," the St. Louis pilot declared after the Cards' game last night with Brooklyn at Ebbets field.

Neither Robinson nor Branch Rickey, president of the Dodgers could be reached immediately for comment.

250 Boys Expected To Try Legion Ball

Interest in the American Legion junior baseball team continues to mount and, where officials in charge of the program expected to be snowed under by about 150 applications, they are now figuring on at least 250.

Wednesday night 177 entry blanks were turned over to Nelson Irvin, the Legion team coach, and entries still were coming from Emsor, St. Mary and Harding.

Seeks More Aid

With the avalanche of applications from hopeful young ballplayers continuing, Irvin has set about lining up several more persons to aid in coaching. Larry Larson, a man with considerable playing experience, has agreed to give a hand.

The first big practice session will be held at Harding field a week from Saturday barring rain, snow, other calamities. Irvin says that several drills on a smaller scale may be held during the week.

This will give him about three and one half weeks to choose a squad for the opening game June 11 at Lincoln park—preliminary to a Marion-Lima Ohio State league game. Four thousand passes which will soon go on sale, are being printed.

In case the game is rained out, the tickets will be honored at Cub games after that date. To keep the night strictly an affair of the two cities the local junior Legion outfit will play Lima's junior Legion team.

Not to Cut Down

Although each American Legion team is allowed only 15 members when it enters tourney play, prior to this more players may be carried. Irvin's plans call for a squad of about 30 boys until a final list must be in.

He and other officials in charge of the program will attend a meeting with other representatives from various Ohio cities at Columbus Tuesday night. There plans and problems of the program will be discussed.

JOHNSVILLE WINS IN MORROW TOURNEY

Special to The Star

EDISON, May 9 — Johnsville won a close game from Chesterville 4 to 2 at the Edison school diamond in the opening game of the Morrow baseball tournament Tuesday.

Grogg, Johnnies third baseman, singled to drive in two scores in the first inning while Lewis and Shaffer crossed the plate in the fourth and fifth with the winning tallies. Rennepage started but was relieved by Donnelson in the fourth inning.

Goare, Chesterville hurler, struck out 10 batters but 6 errors by his teammates were costly as he yielded 5 hits in 6 innings. Merle Doyle, catcher, doubled for the only extra base hit of the game.

Cardington's Bowman and Marengo's Puttick staged a pitcher's battle up to the 6th inning when the Pirate sluggers pounded Puttick and Shugert for a seven run rally to win 9-0. Bowman fanned 11 batters and held Marengo to 3 hits.

The Cards will meet Edison and the winner will play Johnsville for the county championship.

Harding Drops 7 to 0 Tilt To Columbus East

Limited to three scattered hits by southpaw pitcher Jackson, Harding'sbaseball team was stopped 7 to 0 by Columbus East in the Central District tournament at Columbus yesterday.

The East gang picked up lone runs in the first, third, and fourth innings then jumped on Harding pitcher Owens for three hits and two runs before he was relieved with one away in the sixth. Smeltzer took over to put out the fire and although he allowed no hits two more East men scored on a fielder's choice.

Jackson worked on the Presidents in methodical manner getting eight strikeouts and allowing only one Prexy to get past second base. His final clinching efforts resulted in Rea, Zeisler, and Smeltzer chewing air in the top of the seventh canto.

This was the first tourney start for either team and the fifth game of the season for Harding. Their record now stands at three wins and two losses. Games are still on the books but because the schedule must be closed May 15 it is unlikely that any more tilts will be played. Most opponents are postponements and rescheduling them will throw other schools' plans out of kelter.

Ex-Pirate Helps Braves Squash Pittsburgh 12-5

By The Associated Press

Billy Southworth, manager of the Boston Braves, tried seven ex-members of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals in his lineup last year and wound up in fourth place.

This year Billy has branched out a bit, and the spark in his quest for a Beantown flag comes from the seventh-place Pittsburgh Pirates of 1946—Bob Elliott.

Playing against his former mates yesterday, Elliott banged out two doubles and two singles, and drove in four runs to lead the Braves to a 12-5 win over the Bucs in Boston.

The Cubs swept a doubleheader from the Phils in Philadelphia, each by one-run margins. After winning the opener 2-1 behind the nine-hit pitching of Hank Wyse, the Bruins staged a six-run eighth inning rally in the nightcap to overcome an early Philadelphia lead and went on to win 8-7. Andy Pafko's two-run homer, his third of the season, climaxed the rally.

Harry (The Cat) Brecheen pitched the Cardinals to a 5-1 victory over the Dodgers in the first night game of the season at Ebbetts field.

The Boston Red Sox moved within a half game of the top in the American league by defeating the Chicago White Sox 3-0.

The Philadelphia Athletics handed the St. Louis Browns their sixth straight defeat 5-3 under the light at St Louis Henry Majeskie, drove in two runs to help Phil Marchildon gain his second mound win.

Hot Return Fight On WMRN Tonight

Al Guido, busy Harlem lightweight, tonight attempts for the second time to halt the winning streak of Willie Beltram (above) of the Bronx. Their clash in New York is slated for ten rounds. In a sizzler last March, Guido sent the belting beauty to the canvas twice. Willie, however, was strong in the closing rounds and won the split decision.

Since doffing his Army uniform, Beltram has set a blazing pace and has rolled up an enviable record. A victory over Guido would give him eighteen straight. He's a banging puncher and boxing men know him as a great finisher.

Guido is an experienced hand and has a reputation for carrying destruction in his fists—especially for young ambitions. He's strong, rugged, durable—and has never been knocked out.

Enjoy the excitement, blow-by-blow, on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports over American Broadcasting Co. and WMRN (1490 on your dial) at 10 p. m.

REDS' GRADY HATTON BECOMING SAD SACK

Choice Rookie Watches Average Slip to .230.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, May 9 — Grady Hatton, sophomore baseman, was the unhap[py] the lot today as the Cin[cinnati] Reds returned to Crosley [field] today after a rain-soaked [trip] the National league's ea[stern] division.

Hatton, a top notch candidate for rookie-of-the-year awards in 1946, hasn't collected a base hit in 15 times at bat. In four games his batting average has sk[idded] from .280 to .230.

He failed to get a hit in [four] trips yesterday as the New York Giants kicked the Reds back into seventh place, 7-4, in a game decided in the eighth inning when the Gathomites chased Joe Beggs with a three-run outburst.

Rookie Bobby Thomson, [who] earlier in the game had belted out his fourth home run of the year and a two-run triple, scored the tie-breaking run in the eighth when he forced Bill Rainey, took second on a wild pitch and scored on Willard Marshall's single.

A wild throw by Frank Baumholtz, the Redlegs' usually reliable young outfielder, and Walker Cooper's outfield fly produced the other two runs in the inning.

Ray Lamanno and Bob Usher homered for Cincinnati.

Kent Peterson, Cincinnati southpaw, rang up eight no-hitters while hurling for an Army team in the Philippines but his greatest thrill was striking out Ted Williams on three pitches this spring.

SYCAMORE—The Y-Teen group of the Sycamore High school entertained mothers and friends at a party in the school dining room Tuesday night.

The president, Gladys Ekleberry, welcomed the guests. The officers for 1947-48 were installed by retiring officers. Installed were Evelyn Moritz, president; Mary Kathryn Ludwig, vice president; Carol Miller, secretary; and Ruth Ann Konkle, treasurer.

Gifts were presented to all the Y-Teen members who are graduating this year.

In the program that followed Jean Shealy sang a solo with Miss Billie Van Gundia at the piano. Duets were sung by Janet Clingman and Bonnie Geary and Martha Lou Moyer and Marjorie Deppen. The first were accompanied by Virginia Heck and the latter by Miss Van Gundia. Poems were read by Faye Karcher, Gladys Ekleberry and Marian Kuney. A sextet of freshman girls sang and Mrs. Charlotte Prouse talked briefly. Mary Kathryn Ludwig played a piano solo.

Plans were made for the group to present a program at the Home for the Aged in Upper Sandusky Thursday night.

Mrs. Lea Jean Ludwig, president of the council, talked briefly and invited Y-Teen members to a party given by the council and mothers at the school house May 16.

Caledonia School District To Vote On Issue Tuesday

In a special election next Tuesday voters of the Caledonia local school district will consider a five mill tax levy to provide additional revenue for operating their school.

Voting will be conducted in the council room of the town hall in Caledonia for all voters of the school district regardless of the township in which they reside. Voting hours will be from 6:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m.

The five-mill levy would run for two years and would be outside the 10-mill limitation. It would produce about $9,000 a year.

Caledonia School Supt. Orin G. McGlone said the levy was being submitted to voters of the school district because of a failure last fall to seek renewal of a three-mill operating levy for three years.

If the levy fails to pass, it is uncertain whether the Caledonia school will be able to open next fall, Supt. McGlone said. He pointed out that the school will continue to operate at a deficit until the first funds from the levy would be collected in February, 1948. He estimated that by the end of this school term, the school would have a deficit of between $5,000 and $6,000.

If the levy is passed, the school board may borrow up to 50 per cent of the anticipated revenue from it, which would carry the school over until the funds were available.

PARKING FINES CUT BY BUCYRUS COUNCIL

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, May 9—Bucyrus city council gave further consideration to a "carnival ordinance," proposed legislation to prevent tent shows within the city limits, approved a reduction in overtime parking fines and heard a request for financial assistance for purpose of government surplus fire wagons for the CAP when it met Wednesday night.

Council declined to give final hearing to the proposed carnival legislation but gave the bill its second reading.

The bill prohibits tent shows within the city limits without consent of all property owners within 500 feet, and was the direct outgrowth of complaints voiced by citizens in the vicinity of Monnett field, favorite show grounds for carnivals, circuses and tent shows.

Council will take definite action on the proposed legislation at the third reading at the next regular meeting.

Proposed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the reduction in overtime parking fines makes possible payment of only 25 cents if the fine is paid within an hour of receiving the ticket.

The matter of assisting the CAP financially in the purpose of a fire wagon, which the organization suggested might be housed in the city fire department, was referred to the city solicitor, John Carroll, who told council that the aid could not be given legally.

Galion-Willard Ball Game Snowed Out

GALION, May 9—Galion High school baseball nine were leading at the end of the second inning, 2-0, when snow covered the ground at Willard, Thursday afternoon. After the snow melted, the field was too muddy to continue the game, and Coach Ed Rannow brought his men home. Leo Smith was pitching for Galion.

The Rannowmen defeated Ashland High school at Mansfield, Wednesday afternoon, in a district tournament game, 3-1. Fine pitching of Lynn Heskett enabled the Galion team to win the game, while Dick Messner, Ashland ace, struck out 10 batters and allowed two hits. Heskett fanned seven and granted five hits.

The Galion Tigers will go to Bucyrus, Monday, for a game, and Tuesday they will go to Ashland for more tournament play with Shelby as an opponent.

POWER PLANT CUTS OUTPUT AT GALION

Order 50 Per Cent Reduction To Make Repairs.

Special to The Star

GALION, May 9—In order to meet the requirements of the boiler inspector and clean the large boiler at the Galion Municipal Light and Power plant, electric power is being curtailed in Galion 50 per cent, starting last night at 10 p. m., and continuing until Monday, May 12, at 7 a. m.

The curtailment called for lay-off in Galion industry of a day and a half of 375 welders and additional men employed as cleaners, painters, helpers and drivers. Half of the production workers in the manufacturing plants will be affected by the curtailment, it was estimated.

Manufacturers cooperated with city officials and agreed that non-compliance with the request for reduction of power consumption will result in complete shut-off of power.

In order to clean the boiler at the light plant, it has to be cooled off to enable men to work inside and tubes will be drilled out to allow free circulation of water.

FILMS ON CANCER SHOWN BEFORE CLUB

Business, Professional Groups Also Mark Music Week.

Educational films on cancer were shown at a dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club at Hotel Harding Wednesday night, and in observance of National Music week, guest musicians, members of the Marion Lecture-Recital club, presented numbers. Following showing of the pictures, Dr. A. E. Morrison had charge of an extended question and answer period on the subject of cancer. The club had previously made a donation to the Marion county chapter of the American Cancer society.

Preceding dinner, Miss Mary Elizabeth Cornenour, accompanied by Mrs. Griselda Davis Dombaugh, sang "The Wind's in the South," Scott, "May Night," Swartz, "The Answer," Terry, and "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," from "Roberta." Later, Miss Rosalin Manzo and Mrs. Virginia Garfield, piano duo team, played "Caprice Vennois," Kreisler, "Play, Fiddle, Play," Deutsch and Allman, an arrangement of 'Oh Susanna," Foster.

During a business session, it was voted to take a program of entertainment to the Marion county home one Sunday afternoon each month, and to finance a Vacation Bible school for children of the Silver street area in the Silver street school following close of the public school term. Mrs. Glenna Snyder and Miss Lydia Ebel presented the two projects, and Miss Mary K. Miley presided. Miss LaVern Lash directed the program. Introduced as prospective members were Misses Maxine Dane, Dorothy Gail Stephenson, Mary Shirk and Elizabeth Haberman. Decorations included a mass arrangement of firebush blossoms centering the speaker's table, from which narrow fluted paper streamers of pale green and white trailed down the center of the two tables on either side, caught at intervals with sprigs of the firebush to pale green tapers in crystal holders. Mrs. Lucille Cunningham and Mrs. Estelle Allen were in charge of decorations.

Marion Man Elected Head of Church Group

A Marion man, Thomas D. Scott, was elected president of the North Central Ohio Young Adult Fellowship of Disciple churches Sunday at a meeting in Mt. Vernon. The organization of which he is now head is composed of about 60 churches of the denomination in this area.

Scott, a resident of 345 Bellefontaine avenue, is a member of Central Christian church here, and is manager of the Firestone store on East Center street. Seven delegates from Central church attended the meeting in Mt. Vernon.

Lose Mother's Day Gift? If So, This Man May Have It

Disappointment and most likely tears may be turned to smiles for the loser of a valuable package and a Cleveland resident will enjoy Mother's Day a great deal more if the loser can identify the contents of a package the latter found in Marion last night.

Lou Charnicky of 2857 East 99th street, Cleveland, is the finder of the package and his telephone number is Cedar 6928, Cleveland.

Mr. Charnicky called The Star early today, related the story of finding the package and stated he would like to advertise for the owner. In the city on business yesterday, he was getting into his car to go home last night when he saw the package on the curb in the downtown area. Finding no identification on it and being in a hurry to get started home he placed it in his car and went his way. Upon arriving home he examined the package and discovered it to be a woman's white gold watch with initials engraved upon it.

With Mother's Day falling on next Sunday Mr. Charnicky is convinced the package is intended as a special gift and he is most anxious to restore it to the owner who may claim it by identifying the engraved initials, he told a Star newsman.

Seniors' Field Trip Delayed

County Pupils To Inspect Conservation Projects Next Monday.

Final arrangements were completed for the Marion county school seniors' conservation field day next Monday when soil conservation district supervisors met last night in their office in the post office building.

The tour, postponed from last Monday because of inclement weather, will start at 10 a. m. on the Victor Krei farm southeast of Marion. It will be sponsored by the district supervisors in cooperation with D. T. Mills, county school superintendent, the agricultural extension service, and the U. S. soil conservation service.

The supervisors approved farm plans developed by five LaRue community residents in cooperation with the district technicians. The farms, totaling more than 600 acres, are those of John F. McElhaney, Wayne Hoagland, C. E. Lightfoot, W. H. Myers, and Eliza W. Virden.

Applications for assistance in establishing soil and water conservation measures on their farm, submitted by Clifford Wasserbeck of near Marion and Paul E. Almendinger of near Prospect, were approved.

The board also approved requests for preliminary surveys of drainage problems in Pleasant and Bowing Green townships. The requests were made by groups of farm owners in the areas affected.

Procuring of a filing machine for use in a four-county area including Marion, has been delayed for the present, it was announced.

Homer Kile was named to represent the Marion district on a district equipment council composed of a supervisor from each of the surrounding districts, Union, Headwaters of Morrow county, and Divide of Crawford county.

The board approved the sending of a representative to the eighth session of the Ohio conservation laboratory June 16 to July 23 at Camp Muskingum in Carroll county.

Did you ever have cattle, was a hog or sell your farm at auction?
Mixer: No. What's an auction market?
Ike: Oh, are you dumb.
Mixer: What's an auction market?
Ike: An auction market is where people take things to sale them.
Mixer: You mean if I have a gun or a chicken or a bicycle or sofa to sell I can bring it to you to sell it and they will sell it for me?
Ike: That's it. They will even do better than that. Just call them and they will soon get it, take it in, sell it for you, mail you a check after deducting a small fee for their work and the pick-up.
Mixer: Just the one I have. I have a lot of things I didn't know what to do with and that sounds like the easy way to sell them. Where is this place?

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

FAITH giggled gleefully at her father's nonsense.

"I can't come back in one piece," she said, her eyes dancing with mischief. "You know why? 'Cause Aunt Katharine and Uncle Jack are going to hug me to pieces, and I'm going to hug them into smaller pieces'."

"Then I'll have to have some more wastebaskets sent up," Dicky told her gravely. "Just let me know when the hugging is over, and I'll come down and sweep you all up."

"Don't overstrain yourself, old man!" Jack said with elaborate solicitude. "You know the penalty of being 'as funny as you can'."

"Come, darling," Katharine said, taking Faith's hand in hers and starting for the door. "Let's us women get out of here and let the men finish their argument."

Faith's hand settled confidingly into Katharine's and the two started for the door, Faith miraculously silent for the fraction of a second. Then, in tones evidently meant to be for Katharine's ears alone, but which echoed through the room, she broadcast a time-worn question.

"Aren't men funny," she asked.

"They are, my pet," Katharine answered, "but then they think women are funny, too."

"I know." Faith shook her small head sagely as if the sapience of the ages were hers. "Jun and Rod used to say women were the funniest things in all creation. Gee, did it burn me up!"

Finishing School Discipline

"Get her out of here pronto," Jack told his wife, "before the finishing school discipline goes into action. I can see it simmering."

And he gave me an impudent wink as he followed Katharine and Faith out of the door.

When it had closed behind them, Dicky and I looked at each other for a tense instant. Then he opened his arms and I went into them. They closed tightly about me, and, as he bent to kiss me, he murmured: "We ought to 'count our blessings.' Those poor devils! Did you see their radiant faces at being privileged to borrow a child for a couple of hours?"

"Yes, I saw them," I said sadly, "but, I must get nearer the door of Mary's bedroom before we start talking."

"Of course," he said, releasing me, but by the time I had reached the door leading to the room where Mary lay in mercifully drugged slumber, Dicky was at my elbow, pushing a big armchair into a position of vantage where we could see even the slightest movement of our beloved patient.

Then he sat down in it, and pulled me down into his lap.

Madge Must Rest

"Time you took a long breath," he declared. "Just rest and invite your soul for a spell. I'll keep my eyes on Mary. If she so much as wiggles an eyelash, I'll hoist the lantern into the belfry."

"'One if by land, and two if by sea,'" I murmured, nestling into his shoulder. "Oh, Dicky, you are such a comfort!"

"Because I give you a chance to quote Longfellow?" he teased.

"Because you're so understanding, and thoughtful, and because you're always around when I need you, and because you never, never, let me down!" I told him.

"Whee-e!" he exclaimed, but kept his voice low. "That's some testimonial, lady! May I quote from it when you go to Reno?"

"When and if I go to Reno, you may," I told him contentedly, and then we sat quietly in one of the comfortable silences of happily married comrades who are attuned to each other's mental processes.

Smiles to Herself

When at last he spoke, I smiled to myself, for I had guessed what he was going to say.

"Isn't it time for dinner?" he said.

"I fancy it is," I told him, "if you want an early one. I'm sure you can be served if you go down to the dining room now."

"Stop talking through 'your old gray bonnet,'" he adjured me. "You know very well that I'm not going to leave you up here alone with Mary. Where's the menu they're supposed to slip under the door every day?"

"On my desk," I told him lazily.

"All right, all right," he teased. "I'll get it. But hoist yourself off my knees."

He lifted me to my feet, went to my desk, and brought back the menu. We made our selection, ordered our dinner sent up, and when it came, enjoyed it leisurely. But we had been finished for nearly an hour before the knocker sounded, heralding Faith's return.

"They've kept her as long as they could," Dicky whispered as he started for the door.
